Information for former clients of SSB

If you are a former client of SSB, please see our information specifically for former clients of SSB [https://contact.sra.org.uk/news/news/information-former-clients-ssb/].

What you need to know

In an intervention, the Solicitors Regulation Authority (SRA) closes down a solicitor's practice at once—to protect clients' [https://contact.sra.org.uk/consumers/using-solicitor/legal-jargon-explained#client] interests. After a firm has been closed down, it can no longer act for its clients.

If your solicitor's firm has been closed down by the SRA and your business has not been completed, you can get more information on what to do here: What if my case is urgent? [https://contact.sra.org.uk/consumers/faqs/faqs-for-consumers/]

Documents and papers

When the SRA closes down a firm, we take all documents and papers that relate to its clients, including files and accounting records. We keep the documents safe and, if appropriate, return them to the people they belong to. Money

When the SRA closes down a firm, we take all money held by the firm, including its clients' money. We return this money to the people it belongs to if we can trace them. What you need to do—if you are a client

If you are a client of a practice that the SRA has intervened into, read our FAQs for clients of intervened firms [https://contact.sra.org.uk/consumers/faqs/faqs-for-consumers/#solicitorsclosed].

What you will then need to do depends on several factors, including

- how long is it since the date of the intervention, and

- whether your case was 'live' (in progress, not yet closed) on the date of the intervention.
