

Sanctions questionnaire

Tell us about your firm's approach to financial sanctions

28 April 2023

We require all firms, for which we do not already hold such information, to complete a short assessment outlining how you are making sure you comply with the UK's current financial sanctions regime.

The window for you to provide this information is open from 2–31 May.

Who needs to complete a return?

All SRA-regulated firms who were not previously required to provide a return as part of our 2022 anti-money laundering information exercise must take part in this exercise.

We have emailed your Compliance Officer for Legal Practice (COLP) or Authorised Signatory with instructions if your firm is included.

Please note:

- There is a dedicated link in the email that you must use to provide your firm's information and it is specific to the firm detailed in the covering email.
- If you are a role holder at more than one firm you will be required to complete a separate return for each.
- Responses submitted by email or post cannot be acknowledged or processed.
- If you need input from others in your firm you may share the PDF version of the questions (available from the 'List of questions' section below) but you must complete the return yourself.

Do I need to provide this information?

Yes. We will be requesting this information under paragraph 3.3 of our Code of Conduct for Firms. There are no exceptions to the requirement to do this. We may take action against those that fail to submit the information within the required timetable.

What will I be asked?

To help you prepare the questions are listed below (along with a PDF version). If you are unsure about any of the questions then please provide the most accurate answer to the best of your knowledge.

Questions that show how you are meeting sanctions requirements

List of questions

These are the questions you will have to answer in the questionnaire. Do not complete this version — only use the form that is emailed to you.

These questions may change.

Why does the SRA need this information?

[The UK financial sanctions regime \[https://www.gov.uk/guidance/uk-sanctions\]](https://www.gov.uk/guidance/uk-sanctions) is operated by the Office of Financial Sanctions Implementation (OFSI). The measures are imposed by the Government to achieve specific foreign policy or national security objectives. Strengthening the financial sanctions regime is an important part of the government's response to war in Europe.

All SRA-regulated firms must ensure they comply with sanctions legislation, including ensuring they are not receiving fees for work for a designated person outside of a licence from OFSI. Breaching such requirements can result in criminal prosecution or a fine.

To help us assess risk within the sector we require all SRA-regulated firms to provide certain information regarding their approach and potential exposure to financial sanctions risk.

What will you do with this information?

We will use the information you provide to help us assess potential financial sanctions risk faced by your firm, and by SRA-regulated firms overall.

We recognise that firms may have taken different approaches to mitigate the risk of dealing with a designated person or entity. That means there is not necessarily a right or wrong answer to the questions, but it is essential that all firms do provide a response.

The information we are collecting is to inform our understanding of firms' exposure to sanctions risk. Although we may take enforcement action for non-responders, we won't take enforcement action against firms on the basis of their responses.

This assessment of risk will feed into our proactive work on sanctions in the future which may involve proactive engagement with firms in due course based on their risk exposure.

What are sanctions?

Sanctions are restrictive measures that can be put in place to fulfil a range of purposes. In the UK, these include complying with UN and other international obligations, supporting foreign policy and national security objectives, as well as maintaining international peace and security, and preventing terrorism.

Financial sanctions include restrictions on designated persons, such as freezing their financial assets, as well as wider restrictions on investment and financial services.
